

Children's Books to Share in Worship

It sounds like a daunting task to discuss sexual and gender-based violence with children, but it is essential to involve people of every age in this conversation—especially the youngest members of our faith communities. For people who aren't quite sure what to say, one of the easiest, most engaging, and most effective ways to engage children is by reading them a storybook.

The list of storybooks below is adapted from the Nebraska Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Coalition's Early Childhood Resources on Domestic Violence.

Books for Children ages 0-5

A Family That Fights, Sharon Chesler Bernstein

Hands are Not for Hitting, Marine Aggasi

It's Not My Fault, Women's Resource Center of Galveston County

A Place for Starr: A Story of Hope for Children Experiencing Family Violence, Howard Schor and Mary Kilpatrick

Something is Wrong in My House, Diane Davis and Marina Megale

When I Was Little Like You, Jane Porett

When Mommy Got Hurt, Ilene Lee and Kathy Sylwester
